A Word from Our Leaders

Dear Friends,

Together we are solving hunger. This year, Feeding America provided 3.2 billion meals to people in need and grew to become a $1.9 billion organization.

We strengthened and scaled interventions that reach vulnerable populations like children and seniors, released groundbreaking research, provided relief in the wake of Superstorm Sandy, and secured partnerships and technologies that help us more efficiently and effectively rescue excess food to put on the plates of people facing hunger.

We are fortunate to have a broad range of dedicated and supportive partners. Individuals, charities, businesses and government all play a critical role in getting more food to more people. Together, we are implementing real solutions to the significant challenge of hunger in our country.

Thank you for supporting Feeding America's mission.

Through emergency food assistance and targeted programs, the Feeding America network provides food to more than 14 million children each year at the times they need it most. Interventions like the effective new School Pantry Program, expansive Backpack program and the Child Hunger Corps, Feeding America's national service program, increase access to food for children and their families.

COLLABORATING FOR CLIENTS

Feeding America strives to create opportunities for the people we serve to achieve self-sufficiency. Collaborating for Clients is a multi-year initiative to develop client-centered approaches to addressing the priority needs of food insecure people—including employment, health and housing—to more effectively and systemically scale nationwide through partnerships.

Feeding America's quadrennial Hunger in America research series is the nation's leading research about people who seek food assistance from the Feeding America network and the response of the charitable food assistance system.

Hunger in America 2014 results will be the most comprehensive in the study's 20-year history.

4.8M NEARLY 1 IN 12 AMERICAN SENIORS ARE FOOD INSECURE

Good nutrition is essential to the health and wellness of the 3 million seniors who receive food through the Feeding America network. This year, Feeding America launched the national Senior Grocery Program to meet the needs of low-income older adults.

PARTNERING TO RESCUE FOOD AND REDUCE WASTE

In partnership with the USDA and EPA, Feeding America helped launch the U.S. Food Waste Challenge to rescue food and reduce waste. We must work together to capture more surplus food for hungry Americans.
